FIELD AREA

SGVV is working in Rania and Khunti Block of Khunti District. Khunti district is popularly identified as tribal cultural and historical area. Late Birsa Munda was from Khunti district that's why we still find their cultural and historical values intact with them. However, due to poor administrative and government delivery system, the District is still identified as one of the poor district of the state. A large number of populations depend on agriculture, its allied activities and seasonal daily wage activities to make their living. In addition to their livelihood problems, they face problems related to access to rights, entitlements, education, health, naxalism, etc.

SGVV has taken giant step towards working for the underprivileged communities of the area. SGVV has expanded its intervention in Rania Block. The block is tribal dominated area. Apart from major Munda community other communities are also living with harmony like, Rautiya, Teli, Sahu, Kumhar, Lohara, Jhora, Ghansi, Muslim and Chik Baraik, etc.

The issue of trafficking of girls and women is very common in the area. Due to extreme poverty situation girls and women are willingly taking up work of maid in urban areas. The problem arises when agent comes into picture “the placement agencies”. These placement agencies lure these girls and women in the name of good job in urban area where they are exploited, ill treated, and sometime exposed to trafficking world.

There are records of missing people from the area in the search of work in big cities leaving without any information. Their parents find very difficult to trace back in the absence of information and fear approaching police for help.

Money lending is very common. Families have taken loans either from banks or from informal moneylenders. Families have mortgaged land for a small amount of loan. A major cause of money lending is migration with families taking loan to go to cities in search of work.
